Exhibition - Symbioses - Sharon Castellanos

Deeply touched by the narrow relationship between the inhabitants of Andes and nature, Sharon Castellanos explored the links which unite the inhabitants of Valais with their environment. During her stay in Bellwald, she discovered diverse forms of cohabitation – between distance and instrumentalization on one side, and closeness and communion on the other. The Peruvian photographer delivers a sensitive representation of these various symbioses – a representation which turns out to be a metaphor more than an objective reflection of the reality.
