Round-table discussion in the exhibition impACT

« Towards a more sustainable world. Why getting involved? Awareness and professional changes »

The exhibition « impACT. What is our footprint? The photos testify » is a societal perspective, through images from yesterday and today, of what we have done and are still doing to our environment. In the light of a retrospective of the SMArt programme and historical visual testimonies preserved by the Médiathèque Valais - Martigny, the dialogue between archival documents and contemporary photographs restores what constitutes our present and invites us to consider the future differently.

In the frame of this exhibition, the Médiathèque Valais - Martigny in collaboration with the Foundation for sustainable development of mountain regions are organizing a round-table discussion on Thursday the 9th February 2023 at 7pm around the theme : « Towards a more sustainable world. Why getting involved ? Awareness and professional changes ». Our 4 speakers have already decided to change things in their own way and their own scale; they will give us hope and inspiration for the future.

Panel of speakers :

- Laurence Piaget-Dubuis : eco-artist
- Sarah Huber : manager of the Cottier mountain pasture, herbalist and economist
- Lucien Willemin : ex-banker and ex-real estate developer, author and defender of the concept of « taking care of life »
- Sandrine Siu : student in environmental sciences, EPFZ

Moderator : Eric Nanchen, director of the FDDM
